The earliest Autodesk products were released on diskette. As Autodesk's corporate revenues grew, the company began to release AutoCAD on the "hardware-software" model, with the software run on microprocessors. The first version of AutoCAD that was originally released as a desktop app for the Apple Macintosh operating system, was AutoCAD R14 in 1995. In 2006, AutoCAD was released as a web-based application with AutoCAD 360°. In 2010, AutoCAD was released as a web-based application for the Apple iPad and Android tablets.
